

Character Building.

1. Man serves himself best by promoting the Common Good!

2. If you would be happy, be honest. A dishonest person is looking over his shoulder to see what is going to hit him!

3. To be happy one should be industrious. An idle person cannot be happy; one who is industrious may be!

4. To be manly, or womanly, be self-reliant and carry your part of the responsibilities of life. Do not impose that responsibility on others!

5. A smile begets a smile and kindness begets kindness. Abuse begets abuse and cruelty begets cruelty.

6. If you would be happy, cultivate a cheerful disposition. A cheerful disposition is the sunshine of life!

7. Home ownership encourages industry, better houses, better crops and the planting of flowers; ---and better citizens! It helps to build character!

8. Prejudice injures the person who nurses it more than it does the person against whom it is directed. It ferments the mind and poisons the blood. Form an opinion of others without prejudice.

9. Vanity is to be foolishly proud of oneself. It manifests itself in one's manners, bearing, dress and conversation. Self respect, proper clothing and manly bearing are commendable, but false pride is an injury. In a woman modesty and refinement are character jewels, that will attract the true man more than will rubies and diamonds.

10. Selfishness, covetousness, is a love of self, a desire to possess, regardless of rights of others. It is the cause of two-thirds of the trouble in the world. Individual selfishness can crystallize into national selfishness--wars of conquest, unhappiness and suffering to tens of millions of people!

The pair of these may be had from us (unframed) shipped you in a heavy thimble (to be tacked on the wall) for 25c. In frames, with glass, ready to hang on the wall, shipped you insured, in a specially made corrugated box (weighing in all, 6 pounds) for $2.00, we paying carrying charges.

THE MUNDUS PUBLISHING COMPANY, MONTE NE, ARK., U. S. A.